Springtime rainstorms continue to bring much needed moisture but is it enough to ease the strain caused by Idaho's the longest drought cycle on record?

The Idaho Water Supply Committee will attempt to answer that question tomorrow when the Committee meets for the final time this year at IDWR headquarters in Boise.

More than an inch of rain has fallen in recent days in many part of Idaho, which should help extend an otherwise shortened irrigation season.

The Water Supply Committee includes water managers and hydrology experts from both the public and private sector.

The meeting is open to the public.

When: Tuesday, March 10, 2005

Where: Idaho Water Center, 322 E. Front Street, Boise, in the Boise and Snake River Conference Rooms on the sixth floor.

Time: 1:30 p.m.

Parking is located in the Water Center parking garage and note that there is a fee.
